Air Force general favors draft registration return

By RICH ADAMS

A high ranking U.S. Air Force general in charge of recruiting manpower said he supports the reinstatement of Selective Service registration to insure readiness in the event of war.

General Bennie L. Davis, commander of air training command at Randolph Air Force Base, Texas, said Thursday some 110 to 120 days would be required to provide necessary forces for a war.

General Davis made the statements during a press conference following a change-of-command ceremony at Keesler Air Force Base Thursday.

Davis said the U.S. Army is having "sizeable reserve problems" which may only be remedied by immediate reinstatement of registration and later the draft if necessary.

"I recommend reinstatement of registration because if we required mobilization tomorrow morning, a selective service study two years ago shows it would take between 110 to 120 days to deliver the required number of personnel into training," Davis said.

"The Army has sizeable reserve problems, but the Air Force reserve forces are the best ever right now," he continued.

"I have no interest in reinstating the actual draft because there is no reason to do so now," the general added.

Davis also feels bringing back draft registration will add motivation for young men to volunteer for the Air Force and Navy.

"In 1972, the year prior to the draft ending, there were between 40 and 45 percent volunteers who entered the Air Force because they did not want to be drafted into any other branch of service," Davis explained.

"I don't believe the draft should be called a 'threat' which induces people to volunteer, I would rather call it 'motivation,' he added.

General Davis said many more people are joining the Air Force than other branches of service because it is "a technological and glamorous

Sewer grant down drain if July deadline not met

By LESLIE WILLIAMS
Mayor Larry Bennett said Friday the city can "hang up" chances of receiving a $272,000 Housing and Urban Development grant this year unless a contract is let by July 15 to complete sewer and water construction financed through a 1978 HUD grant.

"Some $200,270 from a 1978 Small Cities Grant was released to Bay St.

Louis for sewerage and water constructions in December 1978," the mayor said.

The 1978 grant will finance projects in the 500 blocks of Keller, Sycamore and Washington streets which are low and moderate income residential areas, he added.

Completion of a survey, a legal description and two appraisals of land which must be purchased by the city to implement the sewer and water projects are presently holding up the contract, the mayor explained.

Brown Engineers Inc. of Gulfport is the engineering firm for the small cities project.

"Since December, Brown has been drawing plans and specifications for the project requiring acquisition of property," Bennett continued.

"Before the cities project contract is let," Bennett continued, "a survey has to be made by Brown's firm according to HUD regulations, a legal description has to be drawn by Joseph Gex, Bay St. Louis Council attorney, and two appraisals of the land must then be made."

Also, the owners of the land have to sell their property before the contract is let, he added.

The Bay St. Louis Council Tuesday night directed Brown Engineers to begin the survey immediately.

Mayor Bennett said this is the first time Bay St. Louis has received a small cities grant.

A 1979 grant, which has been applied for, will provide water and sewerage to residents on Easterbrook, St. John, State and DeMontluzin streets, but will not be accepted if the contract is not let by July 15.

The mayor said he was advised of the potential non-acceptance of the 1979 grant by a representative of HUD located in Jackson.

Bennett emphasized "I have put in a lot of time, energy and effort into acquiring this 1978 grant and I hope nothing will be done to jeopardize receiving funds for our city."

Bay teachers sign contracts

By RICH ADAMS

A salary scale battle between teachers and the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District apparently ended temporarily Thursday as teachers who were protesting what they called unfair pay raises for some teachers signed their contracts one day before an extended deadline set by the school board.

Had the teachers not signed their contracts, they could have been passed over for re-employment in the school system and another teacher would have been hired to replace them.

Mississippi Association of Educators Field Representative Burt Barrett reported the teachers signed their contracts despite dissatisfaction with a pay plan adopted by the school board in a special meeting Tuesday.

Teachers complained a salary scale adopted by the board May 4 in a 2 p.m. special meeting which equalized local pay supplements at $900 for all teachers was unfair to some teachers with experience.

The board met again May 14 at a regular meeting and agreed to study the school budget to see if a higher local supplement for those experienced educators would be feasible.

At a special meeting Tuesday, the board adopted a third pay plan recommended by Superintendent J. D. McCullough which gives less experienced teachers an equalized $900 supplement and maintains this year's $900 to $950 supplement for certain qualified experienced teachers.

Barrett said some teachers demanded an addendum be attached to the contracts signed Thursday ob-

County schools protest 'hazardous' campus road

By RICH ADAMS

The Hancock County School Board passed a resolution last week requesting the Board of Supervisors to either install speed bumps or remove entirely a county road running directly through the Hancock North Central high school campus.

The Cuetown Road separates HNC's football stadium, practice fields and field house from the remainder of the Attendance Center.

Board Member Oris Ladner suggested speed bumps be installed to slow traffic passing in front of the school, pointing out the road was listed as a deficiency during a recent inspection of the school by the State Accreditation Board.

Board Attorney Joseph Gex suggested the board pass a resolution requesting the supervisors move the street, or put speed bumps at intervals to slow traffic.

Hancock North Central Assistant Principal James Harrison said cars speeding through campus create a hazard to students crossing the road to attend classes at the football stadium or

Board hires coordinator

By LESLIE WILLIAMS

Gulftown Elementary School Principal Harlin Hill was hired as Federal and State Programs Coordinator for the Hancock County School District yesterday.

At a Saturday morning school board meeting, board members voted three to one in favor of hiring Hill for a 1-year term as coordinator. His salary is not to exceed $20,000.

Hill's new responsibilities entail coordinating federal and state programs, testing, textbook selection, energy conservation, and all other duties assigned by Hancock County School District Superintendent Terrell Randolph.

Board member Oris Ladner voted against the measure saying, "I would prefer to hire Hill as coordinator for a two year period, not one year."

Hancock North Central Principal Thad Haskins noted some janitors within the county school district were getting paid less than minimum wage for each hour of work.

Randolph quickly remedied the situation by drafting a recommendation calling for all non-certified personnel in the district to receive at least minimum wage.

Board members unanimously approved the recommendation.

In addition, board members authorized Randolph to meet with representatives of the Economic Finance Commission (EFC) in Jackson, and the Mississippi Accreditation Department June 7 and 8.

In other action the Board authorized the hiring of a carpenter to perform renovations in the school system in preparation for the 1979-80 school year.

Authorized the purchase of a check protector be advertised.

Approved an EFC long-range form requesting the EFC give the county school system $270,000 for constructions.

The Board went into executive session at 10 a.m., handling the public from the Saturday meeting.

Tax status unanswered

Supervisors delay Krishna decision

By RICH ADAMS

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors Monday recessed a special hearing until June 18 after it was unable to reach a decision on giving the International Society for Krishna Consciousness Incorporated a tax exemption on some 607 acres of land in the county.

During the hearing Hare Krishna members from the New Talavan community in Hancock County near the Pearl River County border testified.

The religious group is attempting to obtain a tax-exempt status on a farm they say is used for education of children and adults.

Ocean Springs Attorney Earl Denham represented the community, which claims to house some 36-40 men, women, and children.

In the past, the board has allowed a tax break on only 10 acres which is used for elementary education of children on the farm.

Darrell J. Martin, a Krishna devotee who serves as head schoolmaster at the commune, told the supervisors the entire farm is used for educational purposes.

Martin said the elementary school at the Krishna site, a two-story, 10-classroom building, has an attendance of 15 children with five more enrolled for next year's program.

Martin, his wife Linda, and Lidia Lightfoot all serve as teachers at the school, he told the supervisors.

He explained 12 males between the ages of 16 and 20 are at the community.

animal husbandry, beekeeping, gardening, and carpentry.

He added business management and general agriculture are also being taught by the remaining members of the farm, which he referred to as faculty.

He explained the Krishnas have a herd of cattle, some 115 cows and bulls, which are used for food or as animals of burden.

Krishna members do not eat meat, and Martin explained the cows are used for milk and dairy products for the community.

"All the land is used for the school," Martin told the board.

"Everything at the farm is used to help the school. The whole farm is used to teach simple living and high thinking," he added.

Supervisor James Travirca asked Martin if Krishnas bought most of their supplies from Pearl River County.

"You buy most of your supplies in Pearl River County, but you want free taxes in Hancock County," Travirca asked.

Martin said he does much business at the Crossroads Grocery Store in Hancock County, and added the farm will eventually become an asset to the county.

"As the farm develops, we will become part of Hancock County and an asset to the county," Martin said.

"In West Virginia, Krishnas built a temple which draws 3,000 tourists daily," he continued.

"Business there is booming, and the temple is a landmark for tour agents. The value of land there has increased," he added.

Under questioning by Board Attorney Walter Gex, Martin said the group's purpose of the farm is not to make a profit, but to become self-sufficient.

Martin told the board that his religion depends upon contributions to remain in operation.

"We don't charge tuition or pay salaries. If a child's parent is earning money, we ask for monetary support," Martin said.

"We also depend on donations...a lot of wealthy people donate money to us. Some of us sell books," he added.

Another witness, Mrs. Diane Bunch of New Orleans, testified her children are receiving a good education at the farm.

Mrs. Bunch, a Krishna, has two young daughters attending the elementary school at the Hancock County community.

Mrs. Bunch's sister recently charged her with child neglect, claiming her children were not receiving a proper education or proper clothing and nutrition at the school.

Mrs. Bunch contended her child abuse case was heard in Hancock County Youth Court before Youth Court Referee Michael Haas, where she said the case was "dismissed, without prejudice."

She said in addition to learning standard subjects such as math, geography, reading and writing, the children also learned Sanskrit and Bengali, ancient Indian languages.

Supervisor Bert Courrege asked what qualifications teachers at the farm needed to become instructors.

Denham said teachers for private schools need not be certified as instructors in public schools must.

Denham called a child who gave her name as Gladivi, her spiritual name. She was questioned by the Ocean Springs lawyer, who asked her about classes she attended at the school.

She replied she learned math, reading, writing, spelling and geography.

The child also said she cleaned the school, had daily religious classes and chanting periods.

The board decided to recess the hearing until June 18, due to Board President Alton A. (Dolph) Keller having to be admitted to Gulfport Memorial Hospital for testing.

Denham agreed with the decision, adding he has more witnesses to bring to the board.

"Our major complaint is thru traffic going back and forth in front of the school which is supposed to travel at 15 miles per hour on the school campus," Harrison said.

"Some cars go through here at 70 or 80 miles an hour. Students cross the road to get to classes at the football field or fieldhouses and the speeding cars create a hazard," he added.

On a motion by Oris Ladner, seconded by Johnny Banks, the board unanimously approved the resolution.

Also at the meeting Monday the board approved purchase of material for construction of a storage shed at Gulfview Elementary, estimated to cost $1,550.

Gulfview Principal Harlan Hill said citizens have agreed to construct the building if the school purchased the materials.

Board Member Moqvel Cuevas said the money could be obtained from maintenance funds, and added Hill could use a purchase order to buy the materials.

Oris Ladner suggested a motion be made to insure the building is started, but Board President said a motion is not necessary at this time.

"If construction has not begun by the first meeting in June, I will entertain such a motion," Woodrow Ladner said.

A promotion to lieutenant general has been awarded to Pustay with the reassignment.

Pustay is a native of Roebing, N.J. and is married to the former Lorraine Bago, also of Roebing.

He has served as commander of KTTC since August, 1977.

General Payne assumes the command of KTTC following a tour of duty as deputy chief of staff of operations and intelligence at Hickam AFB in Hawaii.

He is a native of Dallas, Texas and is married to the former Elsie Marie Bachman of Garland, Texas.

General Davis said Pustay has produced new innovations at the training center, and believes Payne will carry on with those innovations.

"There will be rough days at the start, but I believe John Payne will put Keesler AFB in programs of excellence and quality," Davis said.

"I hate to lose John (Pustay), but General Payne is a tremendous replacement," the Davis added.

"I have every confidence General Payne will take the reins and start his own programs at Keesler," Davis said.

jecting to the contracts and leaving them open to future challenge, but the addendum was not accepted by McCullough.

"Mr. McCullough refused to accept the addendums," Barrett said Friday.

Barrett said teachers quoted a law which allows the contract challenge, but added McCullough also cited state law which forbids contract dispute once signed.

"The majority of teachers are still dissatisfied," Barrett said Friday.

"We still had some win, though. At least we got $100 back for experienced teachers," he added.

"We will just have to wait and see where we go from here," the union official said, implying future action against the board by teachers.

Army Reserve Bonus—Bucks or Books

There will be "a little something extra" in the pay envelope for qualified Army Reservists who enlist under the Reserve Incentive Program.

Ever hear of an employer giving you a bonus just to start a part-time job? It may sound unlikely, impossible, even, but that's just what the Army Reserve is doing under the recently announced "Reserve Incentive Program." It offers financial incentives to first term enlistees.

The Reserve enlistee at the time of enlistment can choose between a cash bonus of $1,500 or educational assistance up to $2,000. The cash bonus option pays $750 upon successful completion of initial active duty and $200 at the completion of the second and third years. The remaining $350 is payable at the end of the fourth year. The educational assistance option offers the new Reservists up to $500 per year, not to exceed

$2,000 over the term of the enlistment. There are qualifications on all who desire to join the Army Reserve and receive the new enlistment bonus. These are:
• Must have a high school diploma or the senior about to graduate (equivalency does not qualify).
• Must meet all other basic enlistment requirements.
• Must enlist for six years (three year enlistment does not qualify).
• Enlistees who join in order to become Army Reserve Civilian Technicians do not qualify.
You can learn more about the new bonus programs in the Army Reserve by calling this toll-free number: (800) 431-1234. (In New York State, dial (800) 243-6370.)

Anybody here remember Vietnam?

Anybody here remember Vietnam? Of course, you say. Da Nang. Saigon. The Mekong Delta. My Lai. And all those other strange names that kept coming up in the headlines.

For millions of Americans - perhaps most of us - the war in Vietnam was never much closer than those headlines and the nightly news clips on television.

It was a war halfway around the world, one that was never declared; a conflict that just seemed to grow behind our backs until, one awful day, there it was, full scale.

No one went to that war with banners flying and bands playing, and those who went anonymously came back the same way. The longer it lasted the more unpopular it became, and its unpopularity seemed to rub off on the very ones who were most intimately caught up in it.

Perhaps the most demoralizing part was what didn't happen. Nobody said "thanks." Nobody said, "We're proud of you. Even though the war was unpopular, we're proud of you for being willing to serve your country."

Well, that's changed.

This year we can make up for the lack of an official thanks. The week of May 28 - June 3 is - officially - "Vietnam Veterans Week."

We should all join the Congress and President Carter in observing it for what it is - a chance, at long last, to express a nation's appreciation to the nearly ten million men and women who served during the bitter years of the Vietnam Era.

We owe it to them. Let's pay the debt.

And a little over a quarter of a century ago, American forces were involved in Korea. Many Americans died in the hills of Korea - and some felt it wasn't a war.

There wasn't much question about World War II and World War I as to whether they were a war or not. Millions of Americans died on foreign soils for us to enjoy freedom.

We contend that whether an American died in World War I, World War II, Korea or Vietnam, they all died for the same cause and that being Freedom.

Memorial Day Services will be held in both Bay St. Louis and Waveland to honor those who gave their all for our Nation. We, as true Americans can show our gratitude towards these heroes by attending these Memorial Services.

Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Post No. 139 will have a Memorial Service at the gravesite of Clement R. Bontemps in St. Mary's Cemetery, New Orleans Avenue at 10 a.m. Waveland American Legion Post No. 77 will conduct a public Memorial Service at 11 a.m. at their Post home on Coleman Avenue.

We urge each and everyone of you to try and attend one of these services, even if you were not involved in the military.

One thing we must all remember, the percentage of Americans today involved in Military services is far less than in the Communistic nations.

The freedom in this nation didn't come free. Fellow Americans gave their lives for our freedom.

It is up to us to maintain this freedom and eventually we may have to don uniforms again to do so. But if we have to do so, we can always thank those who died on foreign soils for giving us freedom for part of our lifetime.

Bits and Pieces

One of our subscribers told us that it was nice to see the Board of Supervisors ban glass containers on our beaches.

The only problem, the person tells us, is the fact that it is getting harder and harder to find a sand beach in Hancock County.

Warnings about the danger of placing gas in containers are coming from all directions with the short supply of fuel.

Yet, one can visit a service station and see folks filling all types of containers with gas, and we do not mean containers for lawnmowers either.

It is dangerous to carry fuel in a vehicle other than in the fuel tank of the vehicle. We are told and have been told many times. Please do not carry gas in your cars in containers, you may not be here to witness the next Memorial Day.

There seems to be a tendency by some to continue to exceed the 55 mile-per-hour speed limit on Highway 608.

Looks like more would be slowing down since the State Highway Patrol has written hundreds of tickets in recent months.

If you keep trying long enough you will get your ticket, we hope you don't kill someone meanwhile.

Farmers in the area planted early this year and the early crops are being harvested.

The Hancock County Farmers Market is going great guns each Wednesday and Saturday morning. They open at 7 a.m. and are usually gone at noon.

In checking with the Chamber of Commerce, there will be no big opening this year. We think the big wheels can't get up early enough, as by the time the official opening was celebrated all the produce had already been sold the previous two years.

If you haven't as yet visited the Farmers Market on Longfellow, you're missing some very nice fresh produce.

Vietnam Veterans Week, 1979

By the President of the United States of America

A Proclamation

We are a peace-seeking Nation and we are at peace, but we must not forget the lessons war has taught us, nor the brave men and women who have sacrificed so much for us in all our wars.

The decade now drawing to a close began in the midst of a war that was the longest and most expensive in our history, and most costly in human lives and suffering. Because it was a divisive and painful period for all Americans, we are tempted to want to put the Vietnam war out of our minds. But it is important that we remember—honestly, realistically, with humility.

It is important, too, that we remember those who answered their Nation's call in that war with the full measure of their valor and loyalty, that we pay full tribute at last to all Americans who served in our Armed Forces in Southeast Asia. Their courage and sacrifices in that tragic conflict were made doubly difficult by the Nation's lack of agreement as to what constituted the highest duty. Instead of glory, they were too often met with our embarrassment or ignored when they returned.

The honor of those who died there is not tarnished by our uncertainty at the moment of their sacrifice. To them we offer our respect and gratitude. To the loved ones they left behind, we offer our concern and understanding and our help to build new lives. To those who still bear the wounds, both physical and psychic, from all our wars, we acknowledge our continuing responsibility.

Of all the millions of Americans who served in Southeast Asia, the majority have successfully rejoined the mainstream of American life.

To them, and to all who served or suffered in that war, we give our solemn pledge to pursue all honorable means to establish a just and lasting peace in the world, that no future generation need suffer in this way again.

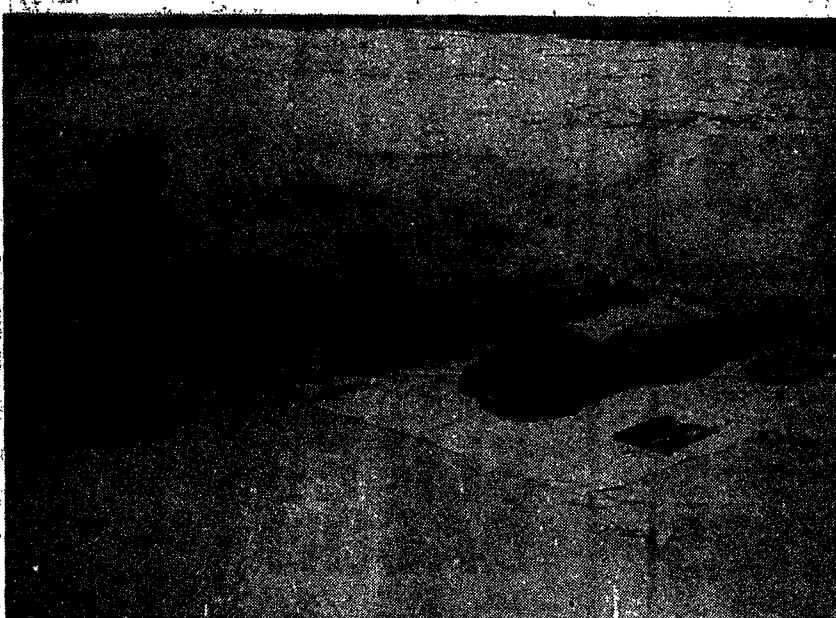

NOW, THEREFORE, I, JIMMY CARTER, President of the United States of America, call upon all Americans to observe May 28 through June 3, 1979, the week of our traditional Memorial Day, as Vietnam Veterans Week. On this occasion, let us as a Nation express our sincere thanks for the service of all Vietnam era veterans.

I urge my fellow citizens and my fellow veterans, and their groups and organizations, to honor the patriotism of these veterans, and to recognize their civilian contributions to their communities in America today.

I call upon the state and local governments to join with me in proclaiming Vietnam Veterans Week, and to publicly recognize with appropriate ceremonies and activities yesterday's service and today's contributions of Vietnam era veterans.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand this twentieth day of March, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and seventy-nine, and of the Independence of the United States of America the two hundred and third.

Jimmy Carter

GLASS WARNING—Bay St. Louis Patrolman Alton Benoit warns sun bathers not to bring glass containers on Hancock County beaches. County Board of Supervisors passed a resolution Monday banning glass containers on county beaches. The resolution calls for violators to be fined $50. Though the patrolman only warned the two bathers Saturday, Benoit says he may give a ticket next time. (Staff photo-Leslie Williams)

May 23, 1979
Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis
Re: Beach Boulevard
Gentlemen:

As we are sure you know, there was a tragic accident on Beach Boulevard near Waveland Avenue on Saturday, May 19, 1979. It was particularly upsetting to us because our nephew who was six years of age, was struck by a motorcycle and instantly killed.

We understand that the motorcycle was driven by a young man who had been at Buccaneer State Park.

We know that this is a dangerous area. The increased traffic as a result of Buccaneer State Park requires that something be done to prevent a recurrence of this tragedy.

We therefore call upon you to do whatever you can to see that some sort of speed limit signs or traffic control signals are posted in this area.

The existing speed limit is not sufficiently advertised. Many people come to Buccaneer State Park who are not familiar with the local limit. The least that should be done is to place speed limit signs prominently along both the beach and Waveland Avenue which many motorists consider an extension of Highway 90.

We are sending a copy of this letter to the Mayor. If anyone else should have a copy, we would appreciate your either sending a copy to them, or letting us know who should receive it.

Very truly yours,
Mr. and Mrs. C. Ellis Henican, Jr.

Are oil companies sitting on reserves?

May 23, 1979

The Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis
Dear Sir:

This could be in the form of an open letter to the Union Oil Co. of California, Socal Oil of Norway and its subsidiaries, and others "sitting" on valuable oil leases in Hancock County, Harrison, Jackson, etc. Add to that list: the United Gas Co. distributing gas on the Coast.

Why isn't there more exploration here in Mississippi? Transport reasons, perhaps, but not controlling. Higher prices. Yes!

Gouging has become endemic for customers of United Gas who are now getting natural gas at about four times what they paid last year, and yet there are very good producers of gas in the Ansel and Stennis fields. Why not more, and lower the costs to Hancockians.

For about seven years, Union Oil has been sitting on my rather large oil and gas lease in NE Hancock County, and with one renewal have done nothing about it, and in fact by letter dated May 14th, 1979, from their Gulf Region Oil office in Jackson said they would not drill on my lands, even though they do have drilling going on in 18th sections lands nearby, a good ploy inasmuch as 16th section school lands do not have the landowners' difficulties involved in private owned lands, and such lands are leased to various and sundry politicians and their cohorts.

Let the U.S. government and Congress deregulate the prices of oil and gas, unleash the laissez-faire competition, and still there would not be enough, as the oil interests will continue their "gouging" and their cavalier attitude of "let the public be damned."

Cordially,

Methodist youth aid cancer fund drive

Editor
Sea Coast Echo
Dear Sir:
May 24, 1979

The Methodist Youth Fellowship of Main Street United Methodist Church in Bay Saint Louis presented $275 to the American Cancer Crusade May 20 at the eleven o'clock service.

Miss Annabell Lipscomb made the presentation honoring deceased members of the church who had contributed much to others during their lifetimes.

The gift was accepted by Mrs. David McDonald, Hancock County cancer memorials secretary.

Many money-making ventures were undertaken by the MYF during the past year on behalf of this humanitarian project.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Bailey, MYF counselors, have worked hard with the young people and expressed great pride in their accomplishments and in their dedication to this worthwhile purpose.

Sincerely,
Mrs. David McDonald

Neighborly spirit still prevails

Dear Friends,
The spirit of the early days of our Republic still prevails.

In those early days, when a neighbor suffered a loss, such as losing a barn to fire, the neighbors came from all around to help in the rebuilding and to show their concern for their neighbor's loss.

In the words of Sara Craig, the Chairperson for the Federal Regional Council in Atlanta, "It's in this spirit that we come to Mississippi."

This spirit was most obvious in our recent trip to Washington, after having instituted our "Recovery and Planning Committee."

All of our appointments were set up in advance, every office was ready to help, not only to recovery from this most recent flood tragedy, but also to avoid this type of disaster in the future. It was clearly one of the most successful days we have ever spent.

We met with the Corps of Engineers, The U.S. Department of Agriculture, Economic Development Administration, Department of Transportation, Housing and Urban Development (HUD), Federal Insurance Administration, Department of the Interior, and the Department of Labor, along with our own Senator John Stennis and Jack Watson at the White House.

Mr. Watson reaffirmed President Carter's support for all our recovery efforts.

I refer once again to the words of Sara Craig when I say, "This is not the end but only the beginning for a great new day in Mississippi."

With warmest personal regards, I am
Sincerely your friend,
CLIFF FINCH
GOVERNOR

YOU AND YOUR PET

MISSISSIPPI VETERINARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION
QUESTION: Our year old cat has a habit of scratching the furniture, rugs, and curtains with his claws. We have decided to have him declawed, but were worried that he may have trouble protecting himself when outdoors.

ANSWER: Declawing of the front paws only should solve your problems, and still afford protection for the cat when outside. By having only the front claws removed, the cat will still be able to climb. Since most cats defend themselves from dogs best by running and climbing, he will still be able to take care of himself quite well outdoors.

QUESTION: Last summer pink-eye got started in my cattle and a very high percentage of the herd was affected. Some were so acutely affected that they could not even walk around with running into fences, trees, etc. It caused my calves to lose weight just about the time from happening again this year?

ANSWER: Although pink-eye can be a side effect of some viral infections of cattle, most cases are the result of bacterial germs spread by face flies.

Where there are dry, dusty pastures and mature grass seed getting into cattle's eyes as they graze, the eyes often get very irritated, and then infection sets in.

Once started in the herd, the germs are very rapidly spread from one animal to the next by flies. Your best defense is to start fly control early and keep it up until fall.

Depending upon your operation, there are several ways to control flies. You might routinely spray the cattle, but this is often a tough job.

Dust can be applied by hand on the cattle as they graze, or you might use dust filled rubbing bags.

Another good idea is the use of back rubs. Most successful cattlemen find that a combination of these methods seems to work best.

Be sure and read all directions carefully when using these and all other farm and livestock chemicals.

QUESTION: We have a 5-year-old Collie, and just bought a 3-month-old pup. I have been told that there is some kind of medication that can be given to keep dogs from getting heartworms.

If this is true, I want to get it for both of these dogs. Do you consider it safe and effective?

ANSWER: There is a drug available in liquid and tablet forms that will safely and effectively protect dogs from heartworms, if given as directed. Dogs under 6 months of age can and should be started on the medication automatically after purchase.

However, dogs under 6 months of age may ALREADY HAVE ADULT HEARTWORMS, and before they can be safely put on the preventative medication, you should have them checked for heartworms by your veterinarian.

If a dog has heartworms, and is given the preventative, it can cause fatal reaction. If your 5-year-old Collie has a blood check and is found to be free of heartworms, you can and should start him on the preventative.

However, if he already has heartworms, he must be treated and cleared of both adult and larval stages of the heartworms before he can safely be started on the preventative.

The drug used to prevent the infection has been found to be very safe and well tolerated by the dog's system. When you follow the directions and insure that the dog is getting the CORRECT DOSE and getting it DAILY, the drug will prevent heartworm infection in your dogs.

As you know, mosquitoes spread heartworms from one dog to another, and here in Mississippi our climate is such that we have a long mosquito season.

That accounts for the great number of cases of heartworm infected dogs that veterinarians see in the state. In dogs that may already have heartworms, early detection and treatment are the key to successfully clearing the dog of the infection.

If dogs are allowed to go with the infection undetected for a prolonged period, the risk of complication later sharply increases, and the dog's chances of being successfully treated are reduced.

All outdoor dogs over 6 months of age that are not already on the preventative medication should be checked to see whether or not they are infected.

VA news

Q - I recently read that new legislation removed the 14-year education limit for disabled Vietnam veterans who are applying for Veterans Rehabilitation Appointments (VRA). Is this true?

A - Yes. Recent legislation signed by President Carter amended the VRA criteria to remove the 14-year education limit for disabled veterans and also removed the one year from date of discharge restriction for applying for VRA. Visit your nearest VA assistance center for details.

Q - What must I do to apply for an increase in my VA disability compensation?

A - In order to get a re-evaluation you must submit a request along with evidence to support the claim, preferably medical evidence. If treatment has been provided at a VA facility, indicate where and when. The necessary treatment reports may be obtained by the VA.

Q - I understand the Veterans Administration's automobile allowance for eligible disabled veterans has been increased. By how much and when did it become effective?

A - The allowance was increased from $3,500 to $3,800 by Public Law 96-478, effective Oct. 1, 1978. Apply at any VA office.

Garden Clubs Federation offers May planting guide

By MRS. C.H. WOOD
Horticultural Chairman
MAY GARDEN GUIDE

May is the month that spring gives way to the warm weather of early summer.

For a colorful display of chrysanthemums this fall, divide old clumps, saving the best ones for replanting, or make cuttings of your favorite varieties and root them in a mixture of equal parts of sand and peat.

Cover the cutting box with plastic, and place in the shade for several days to prevent wilting. Keep moist at all times.

Divide and plant dahlia tubers this month and in early June. Cut apart with a sharp knife, so that each sprout has a tuber attached to it.

Select a sight that has rich, fertile soil, drains well and gets at least six hours of sunlight each day. Plant tubers about 18 inches apart, 5 inches deep with the bud pointing upward.

Place a stake beside the tuber at planting time. Mulch dahlias to conserve moisture. Feed each plant every three to four weeks with ¼ cup of fertilizer such as 5-10-10.

Finish planting container-grown ornamentals, such as azaleas and gardenias. Water every few days during the first month in the ground; then begin a regular fertilization program.

To promote good growth, a light application of nitrogen is needed now on lawns of warm-season grasses such as Bermuda, centipede, St. Augustine and zoysia. Water thoroughly after applying fertilizer.

It is not too late to start new lawns of warm-season grasses. Treat chinch bugs and grubs in grasses with an insecticide such as Diazinon or Aspon. Follow directions on container.

Mulch the rose bed if it hasn't been done. Use 2 to 4 inches of pine straw or wood chips. Water as needed, soaking the soil each time. A soaker hose is best for water application.

Continue the weekly application of an insecticide-fungicide to control aphids, blackspot, mildew, thrips, and other problems. Feed plants monthly with about ¼ cup of 8-8-8 fertilizer per bush. Prune climbing roses after they have finished blooming. Clumps of cannas should be divided every three to four years. Carefully lift each clump of roots with a spading fork and shake off soil.

Cut healthy clumps of roots into sections, with at least one leaf on each small section.

Plant in a sunny spot in well-prepared soil to which organic matter and super-phosphate has been added. Set 5 or 6 inches deep and 15 inches apart. Water thoroughly.

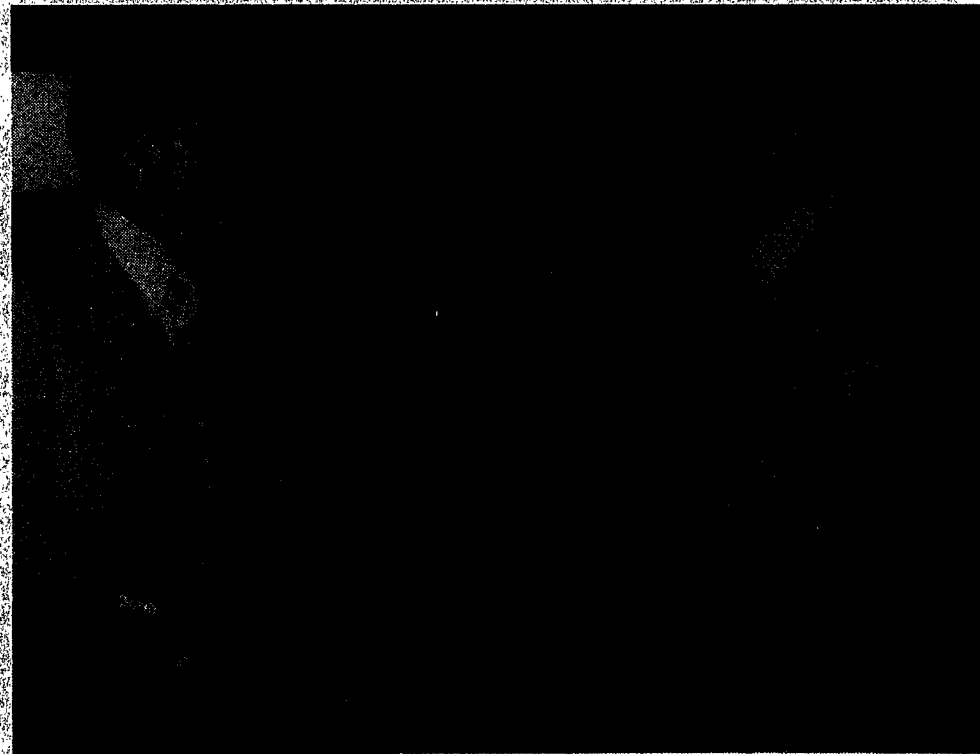

Sow seeds of coleus, cosmos, marigold, morning glory, portulaca and zinnias directly into the soil where they are to grow.

Pinch back summer annuals to make bushier plants. Also, pinch back perennials such as coleus, geraniums and impatiens.

A mulch of pine straw or compost applied now to flowerbeds and shrubbery will help conserve moisture and reduce weeds.

If you haven't moved houseplants outdoors for the summer, do so now. Treat infested plants with malathion.

Sow seeds of canteloupes, carrots, corn, lima beans, okra and squash. Also transplant tomatoes, eggplants and peppers.

Thigpen recounts amusing old stories

By S. GRADY THIGPEN

Back in the old days when the dairyman peddled his milk house to house and measured out the quantity wanted from his can, and when the train was the only method of long distance transportation, a railroad agent told a local farmer, "Why don't you ship your watermelons to New Orleans where you can get a cent for them instead of feeding them to the hogs?"

When the farmer expressed interest in the proposition, the agent said, "I'll have a box car set out to load your melons in today so that they'll go down tonight and be ready to sell in New Orleans early in the morning. I'll give you a pass on the early train."

The farmer loaded his melons and caught the early train. He sold the melons for $1 each, but finished too late to catch the train back home that night.

He was directed to a nearby hotel to spend the night. He woke up in the night. Never having heard of such a thing as an inside toilet, he went out behind the hotel to look for a toilet in the only place he knew where to look for one.

Not finding one, he went around onto the street where he saw a policeman, whom he asked to direct him to a toilet. The policeman said, "Go right around the corner to the first door."

A woman shot her arm out and said, "What are their names?"

"Pete and Repete," replied the mother.

Next to come in were two girls.

"What might their names be?" questioned the visitors.

"One is Kate and the other Duplicate."

Not long after there came into the room two little boys and when asked to tell their names, the mother said, "Max and Climax."

Then all went into the next room to see the babies. One of them was named "More," and the other "No More."

Dear Ma & Pa:

Am well. Hope you are. Tell Brother Walk and Brother Elmer the Army beats working for Old Man Minch a mile. Tell them to join up quick before maybe all the places are filled.

I was restless at first because you get to stay in bed till nearly 6 am (!) but am getting so I like to sleep late.

Tell W. & E. all you do before breakfast is smooth your cot and shine some things - no hogs to slop, feed to pitch, mash to mix, wood to split, fire to lay, practically nothing.

You got to shave, but it is not bad in warm water.

Breakfast is strong on trimmings like fruit juice, cereal, eggs, bacon, etc., but kind of weak on chops, potatoes, beef, ham steak, fried eggplant, pie and regular food.

But tell W. & E. you can always sit between two city boys that live on coffee. Their food plus yours hold you till noon, when you get fed.

It's no wonder these city boys can't walk much. We go on "route marches," which the sgt. says, are long walks to harden us. If he thinks so, it is not my place to tell him different.

A "route march" is about as far as to our mailbox at home. Then the city guys all get sore feet and we ride back in trucks. The country is nice, but awful flat.

The sgt. is like a schoolteacher. He nags some. The capt. is like the school board. Colonels and generals just ride around and frown. They don't bother you none.

This next will kill W. & E. with laughing. I keep getting medals for shooting. I don't know why. The bull's eye is near as big as a chipmunk and don't move. And it ain't shooting at you, like the Higgett boys at home. All you got to do is lie there all comfortable and hit it. You don't even load your own cartridges. They come in boxes.

Be sure to tell W. & E. to hurry and join before other fellows get onto this set up and come stampeding in.

Your loving son,

(Pfc) Zeb

A&P

with supermarket prices.

ADVERTISED ITEM POLICY

Each of these advertised items is required to be readily available for sale at or below the advertised price in each A&P Store, except as specifically noted in this ad.

Ask the man who knows.

At A&P we don't display all of our fine beef selections and then leave you alone to guess which cut is the right one for your best stroganoff... or how many pounds you'll need to serve six.

We're so proud of our beef that we want to be sure you make the right decision.

That's why the A&P Butcher Shop provides you with all the answers to your beef questions... when you ask our Butcher... the man who knows.

Lewis ran a 11.0 second 100-yard dash to set the district record, and is also co-holder of the District VIII 50- and 75-yard dashes.

Lewis has been captain of the Bay High Tigerette track team for three years in a row, and holds many school records.

She came in fourth in the South Mississippi Track Championship and sixth in the State Meet in the 50-yard dash. She holds the school record for the 100-yard dash with an 11.5 second run, and the Pascagoula River Conference record with an 11.5 run.

She also holds school records in the 75-yard dash, is a member of the district 440 and 300 relay squads, a member of the school record setting 440, 300, and 200 yard relay teams, and has set conference records as a member of the 400 and 300 relays.

She has placed in the South State meet three years in a row as well as leading her team to three PRC championships, one district championship, and one district runner-up.

She has won PRC championships in the 50-, 75-, and 100-yard dashes and was District VIII champion in those three events as a sophomore.

She was runner-up in those three events as a junior, and won District VIII 100-yard dash as a senior, as well as runner-up in the 75 and placed third in the 50.

Take The Heat Off Your RV Or Specialty Vehicle Now To Save Headaches And Big Money Later

The warm weather that puts millions of RV's, campers, vans and trailer-towing cars on American highways every year can also keep those vehicles off the road as well.

"Light recreational and heavy duty vehicles sustain higher underhood temperatures and see more stress than conventional cars," notes Richard McGillick, manager, technical services at Purolator in Rahway, N.J., a major manufacturer of automotive filters and parts. "Since they work harder and run hotter, it makes sense to check RV's and specialty vehicles carefully before weather use. Consider the following maintenance tips now, and you may save big money repairs and headaches later, notes McGillick."

1) Check and replace belts and hoses more frequently. Campers, RV's, vans, and wheel drives and trailer-towing cars generate higher underhood temperatures which may deteriorate rubber-based parts more quickly than conventional cars.

2) On vehicles with automatic transmissions, check your transmission fluid, filter and modulator more often or install a transmission oil cooler. Doing these can prolong the life of the transmission and help stop engine overheating in high-load vehicles.

3) Change the air filter more frequently in dusty conditions, particularly if your vehicle sees extensive off-road use.

4) Change your oil more frequently in severe operating conditions—extreme air temperatures, heavier loads or high speeds. High temperatures can reduce the lubricating effectiveness of oil.

5) Use high oil temperature dual filter designed especially for light recreational and specialty vehicles. Known to buffs as "The Hot One," this dual filter offers much greater resistance to heat and captures more dirt than regular filters.

6) Check your battery more frequently. High underhood temperatures may reduce the battery's energy output.

7) Rids your radiator grid of insect build-up and dirt that can reduce the effectiveness of your cooling system.

8) Check the tire pressure more often in high-load vehicles such as trailer-towing cars, campers and pickups. An under-inflated tire may heat up and blow when subjected to heavy loads.

9) Check the brakes more often in high-load vehicles. Additional weight, particularly on trailer-towing cars, means additional stress on the vehicle's brakes.

10) For your own safety, check your trailer-tail lights and use oversized sideview mirrors on trailer-towing cars.

11) If your vehicle sits idle all winter, have it serviced before the new recreational season.

12) Before you purchase a new heavy-duty vehicle, check into the heavy-duty options that will combat excessive wear and tear and improve performance and pleasure. Tell your dealer how you plan to use your new vehicle.

CATCH MORE FISH

If improved angling success interests you, Mercury outdoor fishing experts suggest you consider a five-point fishing method that is practiced by many tournament anglers.

It can be adapted to any kind of fishing, and is easy to follow. 1. Never go fishing without a plan. Consider the time available, decide what species of fish you want, plan how you intend to fish.

Don't waste valuable fishing time on long-distance boat runs when you can launch nearer to the area you intend to fish.

2. Seek information from others. Arrive at your fishing location with time to consult with dock owners, local anglers, guides, conservation officers, and others who live in the area and can add to your knowledge of local conditions.

3. Search for a fishing pattern. Determine a pattern and follow it until you know absolutely that it isn't producing. Then strike out on a different pattern, searching until you find the one or two that work.

4. Fish only key success areas. Don't waste time on areas which have proven poor in the past. Pass them by and go directly to where you know there are fish.

5. Keep in top physical condition. Good health adds greatly to your enjoyment of the outdoors. You can stay out longer, be more alert, and feel better after a long day on the water.

Follow the plan outlined above, and chances are your success will improve within a short time.

FISHIN' TIPS

from... Tom Mann

BRER TOM: "Is it true that all fishermen are liars or do only liars fish?" JUST ASKIN'.

HELLO JUST ASKIN': Oh, I don't believe fishermen intentionally lie. They just expand the truth a tad or two.

DEAR TOM: I notice in your literature you tell how to make a lure run a true line. Why can't you make all lures run on center?

HELLO CURIOUS: It's called "the human element." No one is perfect, not even lure assemblers, but they do come close. Just bend the line the way you want the lure to run, thassall.

HEY TOM: "Do you prefer a hone for keeping an edge on a fish knife, or a butcher's steel?"

KARL KEENE: When you first get that fish knife, hone the edge. After that, a butcher's steel is great for quickly sharpening it while cleaning fish.

DEAR TOM: I read where keeping worms in an old sock would keep them lively, but I can't stand the sound of their gnawing. What's wrong?"

HELLO JOE: I don't know whose sock you used but I'd suggest they change socks more often.

Wildlife management area purchases 3,027 acres

What some consider as the most significant natural area left in the southeast—the Pascagoula River Wildlife Management Area—increased in size Saturday as the state purchased 3,027 extra acres from the International Paper Company.

Valued at just under $2 million, state officials bought the additional bottomland hardwood forest for $1.5 million from IP through the assistance of The Nature Conservancy, a national, non-profit conservation group.

The $500,000 difference between the land's fair-market value and the state's cost was a gift to the state from IP. According to officials, the transaction assures the protection of the two creeks in their natural state, along with any rare and endangered species there.

"In managing lands for highest utilization, we recognize that some IP-owned land is best suited for conservation," International Paper regional manager J.R. Ward said.

"Today the company is transferring this tract of beautiful woodlands to benefit all Mississippians, and I am confident that the management of our Pascagoula tract is in good hands."

The deed transfer took place at ceremonies held at Parker Lake, 18 miles north of Pascagoula, and in the heart of the 50-square mile swamp.

The newly-acquired land is located in George and Jackson counties along Red and Black creeks and the Pascagoula River. It will be added to the existing 32,000 acre Pascagoula swamp purchased by the state in 1976.

"This is one of the few instances that we know of where federal, state, and local governments have joined with industry (International Paper being the largest land owner in the U.S.) and the private sector (The Nature Conservancy, a private, non-profit organization) in an effort to identify and protect a nationally significant natural resource," according to Wildlife Heritage Committee chairman Senator Donald Strider of Charleston.

Some $300,000 of the purchase price came from state-allocated monies from the Land and Water Conservation Fund administered by the U.S. Dept. of the Interior. State funds in the deal amounted to $1.2 million in addition to IP's $475,000 contribution.

"We have been working for three years with IP in order to protect Red and Black creeks," according to John E. Andrus III, chairman of the Conservancy's Board of Governors.

"I believe that anyone who tours this property will agree that the boundaries established not only protect this fine natural resource for all the people of Mississippi, but also will allow International Paper Company to continue its active timber program in this area."

Some scientists believe the ecologically rich river bottomlands, like those preserved in the Pascagoula area, are a type of natural commodity that is rapidly disappearing in the south.

Car stunt display slated in Clinton

Many of the stunts featured in the movies and on TV will be recreated for motor sports fans attending the Jole Chitwood Thrill Show at the Jackson International Speedway in Clinton, Mississippi on June 6th.

In addition to the high speed action of the 1/4 million dollar, 1979 Chevy fleet, old automobiles will also be demolished during the twenty-one act show.

Show founder Jole Chitwood, Sr., began the movie work in 1949 with the film "To Please a Lady" starring Clark Gable and Barbara Stanwyck. The film featured a 15 minute segment on "Jole Chitwood and The Original Auto Daredevils."

This was the first indication that stunts from the auto thrill shows would be popular in the movies.

Today, the vast majority of Hollywood productions feature at least one or two hair-raising crashes or high speed chases. Many of these movies carry the Chitwood stamp of "daredevilry" including: the James Bond 007 thriller, "Live and Let Die;" "A Small Town in Texas;" "Race With The Devil;" "Grand Auto Theft;" and "Final Chapter of Walking Tall."

This past year Jole Chitwood, Jr. performed the stunts for the NBC movie "Big Bob Johnson & His Fantastic Speed Circus" and the CBS movie "Who's Killing the Stuntmen."

While some of the real racing excitement may be lost on a movie or TV screen, the sensation of high speed chases, the screeching of tires, and the sight of mangled metal will be brought directly to fans of the Jole Chitwood Thrill Show on June 6th at Jackson International Speedway as the stuntman recreate crash and chase scenes from the movies and TV.

Also scheduled will be two classes for stock car racing. Race time is 8:00 p.m.
